

CP Administrative Chain-of-Command Pertaining to Member District Problems in Relation to the Service Center

CP

The board encourages administrators of member districts and the Service Center executive director to cooperate in every way in order to solve their administrative problems in the most efficient and expeditious manner possible.

Every member district administrator is encouraged to cooperate with the administrative staff of the Service Center. If conflicts arise, the member district administrator, member district superintendents and/or other member district directors as appropriate and the Service Center executive director shall attempt to solve the problem.

If the conflict is not resolved and said conflict persists, the Service Center executive director shall attempt to solve the problem. If the problems cannot be resolved, the problem shall be taken to the Service Center board for resolution. If the final decision of the Service Center board is not satisfactory to the local board, the local board has the right to withdraw from the Service Center or the particular program involved or may seek to resolve the problem in some other satisfactory manner.
